

I wrote you a long note, but your system crashed when I tried to send it (don't you want to hear from us?) Anyway, The gist was: I believe that a diversity of view points is necessary for a working democracy. The founding fathers didn't settle on Democracy as a government model because it was efficient (dictatorship is much more efficient), and the FCC also should not base their decision on relaxing the media ownership rules based on economic efficiencies. Rather, they should base their decision on what is best for American democracy. The American People need rules in place that serve the public, rather than private, interest. I oppose taking a vote that leads to more media consolidation. On June 2nd, I urge you to retain the current ownership rules.
